Introduction

This Index Chart Book is intended to run in parallel with the EPRA Statistical Bulletin and Monthly Review. While the bulletin focuses on performance, this index chart book will use the same data in an effort to identify historical trends and indicators on the index series. In this quick commentary, we will each month highlight a particular graph, either for explanation or for noteworthy developments when compared to the previous month.

Graph

This month's highlighted graph is Graph 6, the Bollinger Bands for the FTSE EPRA/NAREIT Global Developed index, as shown on the right.

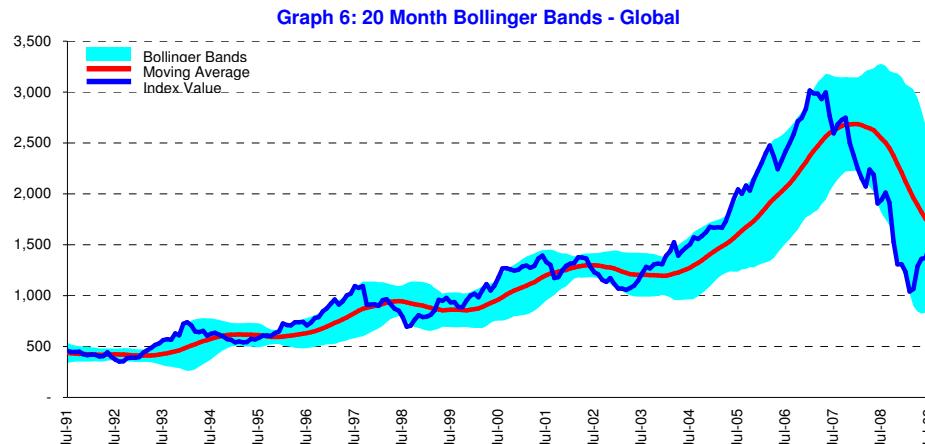

Explanation

When we look at the Bollinger Bands, as a measure of market volatility, the picture is quite clear: during the 2003-2006 run, the index continuously traded along the upper band, pushing it higher and higher. The 2007 and 2008 market correction saw the index dropping to near the lower band, and in December the index actually dropped below the lower band. Up to 2003 all three bands were parallel, but since then we see a widening of the bands, which indicates that the market has become increasingly volatile. However, since the market recovery this year-to-date, we see that the index level now almost equals the moving average, and is now more or less in the middle of both borders. As a result, the Bollinger bands are now narrowing indicating a stronger direction towards the market is going (according to the theory/model).

Other developments

The moving average used in the Bollinger Bands-model is a relative short-term moving average. When we look at the longer-term moving average (5 years, graph 3), it still indicates that the market is in a downward trend, although the average seems to be bottoming out.

Further signs of recovery can be found in the average true range (the difference between the high and low): since its record October 2008 level, it has decreased to early 2007 levels for the Global Developed Index (graph 4) while that index was experiencing all-time high levels.

Another indication of market recovery is the Relative Strength Index. The RSI is an index between 0 and 100 that shows the price strength of the index by comparing upward and downward movements. If the index is in the 0-30 region, the market is oversold and if the index is in the 70-100 range, the market is overbought. As a result of the recent market conditions in 2007 and 2008, all markets dropped below the oversold-threshold. However, the 2009-YTD results have pushed the RSI for all markets strongly back in the neutral zone (graph 5, 28, 49, 70 and 91).

As a result of this market recovery and increasing share prices, the historical dividend yields -being as they are- are of course dropping, as shown in graphs 35, 56, 77, 100 for all regions.

Another remark can be made regarding technical analysis: all markets seem to be moving towards their two/three-year upper resistance levels (graphs 1, 24, 45, 100 and 66, although for the latter - North America- the effect seems to be just a little bit less strong. However, emphasis must be laid upon the fact that determining resistance levels is a highly personal/subjective opinion made by the analyst in question (LtB), and an EPRA disclaimer applies.

And finally, regarding the candlesticks, the graphs show more green/ups than red-downs, graph 23, 43, 64, 85 and 102.

Section 8

Details on Methodology

Asset Class Comparisons and Correlations

The asset classes are defined as follows. For real estate, the FTSE EPRA/NAREIT indices are used. For broad equities, the national headline index is used (i.e. FTSE 100, CAC 40 etc.) and for multi-country profiles, the FTSE All-world index series is used. For bonds, the JPMorgan Bond index series is used.

Average True Range

The difference between the 1Y high and the 1Y low in index points. A higher reading indicates a higher volatility.

Beta Coefficient

The Beta Coefficient is a measure of a portfolio in relation to the rest of the financial market. It is calculated as follows:

$$\text{Beta} = \frac{\text{Covariance}(10\text{Y Average Returns Broad Equities and } 10\text{Y Average Returns Real Estate})}{\text{Variance Real Estate}} * 100$$

Bollinger Bands

A set of Bollinger Bands are a tool that can be used to measure the 'high-ness' or 'low-ness' of the price relative to the previous one, and acts as a measure of volatility.

The Bollinger Bands consist of three lines: a middle band showing a simple moving average, an upper band located at twice the standard deviation above the middle band, and a lower band located at twice the standard deviation below the middle band.

Candlesticks

Candlestick charts give an overview of the daily Open, High, Low, and Close price of the index over a certain period, in this case a month. The graph presents the relationship between these prices and as such show an indication of volatility. Candlesticks can only be created on securities that have intraday pricing, and so for this graph the real time price indices are used (instead of the total return indices that are used in the remainder of this chart book). A candlestick chart reads as follows:

If the body is colored green,
then the index went up.
If colored red, the index closed down.

Capital Allocation Line

The CAL is the line between a risky asset (either a real estate portfolio or a broad equity portfolio), and the risk-free rate. The risk-free rate is derived by extrapolating the line between the risky asset and the JPMorgan bond index.

Dividend Yields

The dividend market capitalisation (defined as the dividend multiplied by the shares in issue and free float percentage) paid during the last twelve months as a percentage of the investable market capitalisation of the index.

Efficient Frontiers

The efficient frontier shows the minimum variance portfolio (or least risky portfolio) for a given rate of return. The resulting line shows the most efficient portfolio for any given combination of risk and return. Rational investors will construct portfolios that have risk-return profiles that are located on this frontier.

The efficient frontiers are calculated using data from a rolling 10-year period.

Equally Weighted Value-at-Risk

The Value-at-Risk of an index is calculated by multiplying the market capitalisation of an index by the 10Y standard deviation of the index. Equally weighted refers to that older observations are given the same weight as the more recent observations.

Investment Horizons

The ratio of the average monthly return divided by the average monthly volatility over the specified periods, 1 to 18 years.

Moving Averages

The oscillator compares the long term (5Y) average with the short term (1Y) average. When these two lines cross a change in trend is identified. The graph shows the difference between the long term and short term. A negative difference indicates a downward trend, and a positive difference indicates an upward trend.

Relative Strength Indicator

The Relative Strength Indicator is an index between 0 and 100. A value between 70 and 100 indicates that the market is overbought, and a value between 0 and 30 indicates the market is oversold. The RSI is calculated using the following formula:

$$RSI = 100 - \left[\frac{100}{\left(1 + ABS \left\{ \frac{1Y \text{ Average Monthly Gain}}{1Y \text{ Average Monthly Loss}} \right\} \right)} \right]$$

Retracement Levels

The Fibonacci ratios (0.618, 0.50 and 0.382) are applied to the range between the 1Y High and 1Y Low.

Retracement levels are important in the case of a "changing market", i.e. when the index breaks out of its trend.

When the index breaks out of a long-term upward trend and starts a downward correction, the retracement levels show support levels.

When the index breaks out of a long-term downward trend and starts an upward correction, the retracement levels show resistance levels.

Risk/Return Profiles

The risk/return profile-value is determined by the 10Y average risk (calculated by the standard deviation) on the X-axis and the 10Y average return on the Y-axis.

Seasonality Chart

This chart compares the index value on a year-by-year basis. Each line represents the index in a particular year, and when combined with each other, a comparison can be made to see whether a pattern can be found, i.e. does the index always perform the same way in a particular month.

Sharpe Ratio

The Sharpe ratio is a measure of the excess return (or Risk Premium) above the risk free rate (as measured by the JPMorgan Bond index) per unit of risk in an investment asset or a trading strategy. It is calculated as follows:

$$\text{Sharpe} = \frac{(10\text{Y average return of the index} - 10\text{Y average return of the risk free rate})}{10\text{Y Volatility}}$$

Technical Analysis

This is an attempt to indicate long term trends in the movement of the index.

PLEASE NOTE: Identifying these trends, especially the resistance and support levels, is subjective and expresses the views of the author only and not necessarily the view of EPRA. Please refer to page 116 for further details.

Velocity

This liquidity measure is calculated by the number of shares traded over a 12-month period divided by the free-float adjusted shares in issue at the end of the period.

Volatility

The volatility shows the variability of returns over a 12-month period, revealing the extent by which the returns of an index value change from the average. Low volatility indicates the returns for an index have stayed quite close to the average whereas a high volatility would indicate a larger fluctuation over the time period. Volatility can therefore be seen as a market measure for risk.
